Pesantren is an alternative model of education that has historical roots in the midst of the Indonesian Muslim community. Even if it is managed seriously, integrated and professionally, pesantren can be the best alternative for education. Jabal Rahmah Islamic boarding school which is a boarding school that specifically educates orphans based on tahfidz Quran has been established since 2002 and is the only orphaned peasantren cottage located in the Cirebon area of West Java. The advantage of this design is that it has many precedent studies so that it can provide many references when designing. Then the location of this design is easy to access so that the author can often observe to do analysis. The general problems found were related to the problems of the Jabal Rahmah Islamic boarding school such as the lack of optimal activities for residents when doing activities in the room due to several factors such as the organization of the space which was still unclear, the arrangement of facilities was still not optimal, and several problems such as the lack of openings and also the identity of the lodge. boarding schools that have not been seen in the interior elements of the room. The purpose of this design is to provide encouragement to change the design and complete the facilities of the Islamic boarding school for the better and then to create a design that can bring the identity of the cottage to every interior element to become a more modern campus.
