

ABSTRACT

Healthy skin and an attractive appearance have become an important lifestyle for modern society. To fulfill these lifestyle needs, beauty clinics industries have been established that focus on skin care treatment, one of which is Erha Dermacenter. The treatment provided must be supported by facilities that can meet all the needs for activities in the clinic. These facilities can be fulfilled through interior design that considers the psychological, functional, and five-sense factors from all parties involved. This design concept is expected to be able to create a comfortable atmosphere in every activity carried out at Erha Dermacenter.
