

PREFACE

First of all, gratitude to Allah SWT for being able to finish this book word by word. Especially thanks to the supervisor who has guided from scratch to make this happen. And also parents, wife, and other extended family.

Identifying users based on behaviour, is a general thing that can be used specifically to strengthen the system. I could not achieve this without the strong support especially from the supervisor. Therefore, the author would like to thank all those who have helped. The author realizes that this is still far from being perfect, both in terms of form and material. Finally, hopefully this can be useful to add development to strengthen the system.
