

ABSTRACT

Hospital is a health service institution that provides health services. Hospital design also influences the patient's recovery process, given the increasing human population, the need for health facilities must also be met both in terms of facilities and services. This can present an Islamic Hospital, because the human population, especially those who are Muslim in South Tangerang City, reaches 94.8%. The application of the Healing Environment is a design concept that prioritizes the recovery process of patients, as well as other users involved in activities at the Hospital, so that the process of treatment and healing of patients can run according to aspects of patient comfort and safety.
