

ABSTRACT

The success of an interior design is the extent to which it can meet human needs. A good interior design should be able to respond to human needs even further so that it can inspire potentials that exist in humans.

Photo Gallery is a facility that accommodates photography needs and activities. Gallery, a space that functions to collect, maintain, and exhibit works of art, can be one room for this need. Besides the gallery, of course another function is needed to complete the gallery. In accordance with the main goal, namely developing the world of photography.

Darwis Triadi is a professional photographer icon today. In addition, Darwis Triadi has had a company in the field of photography from 1982. Therefore, this Photo Gallery carries the name Darwis Triadi so that people are more interested.

This design was carried out with primary and secondary data collection methods which then underwent analysis until finally getting the concept of "Catching The Light" with supporting facilities such as cafes, souvenir shops, training institutions, photo studios, audiovisual rooms and offices. The design of this gallery is believed to provide insight and experience with the main object, namely photography and photographer public figure, Darwis Triadi.
