Depok City Public Library is a city-level library that stands in the city hall area, precisely on Jl. Margonda No.54, Depok, Kec. Pancoran Mas, Depok City, West Java 16431. Visitors to the Depok city library in 2022 were 17,462 people. With a population of 2,123,349 people, the number of visits to the library is at least 0.10 per capita per year according to National Library Regulation No.8 of 2017 concerning National Standards for Regency / City Libraries so that this number is not up to standard. The library now not only functions as a place to read and be serious, but the library is turning into a flexible place where there are facilities for discussion and collaboration because the characteristics of the millennial generation are open, and like to gather together. The design method used is field observation, comparative studies, distributing questionnaires, and literature studies. The data that has been obtained is then analyzed and then programmed so that the formation of themes and design concepts that are applied to the Depok City Public Library with the Learning Commons approach in accordance with current problems and phenomena so that people are interested in visiting the Depok City Public Library.
