TEXTILE AND FASHION CRAFT STUDY PROGRAM

In order to create handcrafted items, decoration techniques are used in this subject. These techniques are then combined with beading to create fashion products that are decorated. The wayang kulit's Gunungan motif is highlighted by the use of Lurik Woven fabric, which gives the piece a contemporary, three-dimensional appearance. A combination of literature reviews, interviews, field observations, and exploratory experiments make up the qualitative research methodology that is being applied. The study's output takes the shape of Gunungan-inspired embellishments applied to fashion items through the use of beading and embroidery techniques combined with Lurik Woven fabric material.
