

FOREWORD

During the college years, the author has gone through many things and certainly learned many things from academic and non-academic activities. The author is grateful for having reached the final project stage and passing through obstacles that are certainly not easy, but the author is happy in going through the process. The author is grateful to God Almighty, because thanks to God the author has succeeded at this point. And of course the author wants to thank the author herself who always tries to be strong to face any problems, and still live life and survive despite obstacles and tests.

The author would also like to express his gratitude to:

1. Thesis Supervisors - Miss Rita and Miss Amanda, I am incredibly grateful to my supervisors in Bandung for their patience and insightful discussions, which were crucial in completing this final paper.
2. My family - Mama, Papa, my brothers Dennis and Chris, and pet fish. I would like to express my deepest gratitude to them for watching me grow and develop. The author realizes that the author is a spoiled youngest child, thank you for your patience in dealing with the author. Thank you for raising and educating the author very well. Without you, the author would not have reached this point.
3. My dearest person - Abin. Many thanks to Telkom University students with NIM 1303202099. Without your kindness, the author does not know where to complain about something. Sorry if the author is still a person who cannot fully recover, the author is trying her best to be better. Thank you for accompanying the author every day.
4. Highschool bestfriends - Cia, Putri, Dielia, Ica, Dhea, Della, Debby. You watched the author grow from adolescence until now the author is working on research, you accompanied the author during happy and difficult times. Thank you, hopefully this friendship will last long until you are no longer young.
5. Ybba - Michelle, Ara, Elsa, Thasya, Dwi. Without you, the author's college life would be empty without interesting stories from you. Thank you for fighting together in this lecture. Thank you for always being there in joy and sorrow. The author is sad if she has to see the reality that now the lecture period is over and we have separated from each other. I wish you all success!

6. Boarding house neighbors - Tina, Andra, Seno, Gorbon. Thank you for helping the author both in lectures and in everyday life. The author is grateful to have neighbors like you when the author migrates.

Bandung, 21 May 2024

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Gin', written in a cursive style.

Gabriella Putri Hadriani

NIM: 1502200283