

ABSTRACT

Wheat is one of the food needs in Indonesia that is entirely imported. The occurrence of the Russia - Ukraine conflict can certainly hamper international trade, this can be seen in the decline in the volume and value transactions of Indonesia's wheat import by country of origin in the Indonesian Central Bureau of Statistics in 2021 and 2022. The purpose of this study is to determine whether there is a significant difference in the volume and value transactions of wheat import in Indonesia by main country of origin before and during the Russia-Ukraine war. The method used in this research is a quantitative method with a different test. The results of this study using the different test method based on the result of Wilcoxon signed ranks test show that there is no significant difference in the volume and value transactions of Indonesia's wheat import according to the main countries of origin before and during the Russia - Ukraine conflict
