

Redesign of Mother and Child Melinda Bandung Hospital with Space Psychology Approach

Abstract:

People's perspectives on hospitals still have thoughts with a negative atmosphere, such as scary. The importance of changing perspectives is to create a hospital image with a positive atmosphere to support the healing process psychologically and physically. The purpose of this design is so that the community, especially in the city of Bandung, can support the needs and comfort of users psychologically when doing activities in hospitals so that the quality of health can improve.

This design is carried out by observation methods, interviews, questionnaires, documentation, and literature studies. Mother and Child Melinda Bandung Hospital was redesigned with a spatial psychology approach, using the theme "Health Warm Family with Meaningfulness" which is supported by the concept of salutogenesis for psychological comfort from environmental psychology in hospitals. This is also so that space users get a positive effect and can accelerate the healing process and improve health, especially psychologically.
