The National Police of the Republic of Indonesia itself certainly has the function of creating domestic security, precisely maintaining security and also ensuring order in public life, issuing order and enforcing the law fairly, creating aspects of protection, protection, and service for the people of Indonesia, as well as creating peace in community life by prioritizing human rights. As for a number of problems that can reduce the credibility of the National Police, such as the slow response to public reports, it is important for the National Police to continue to strive to improve the professionalism of its duties to improve and maintain its prestige. However, the organization of the space in the Medan Labuhan Police Station has not been well organized, can have a negative impact that affects efficiency, security, and comfort both for users and also the facilities are not adequate to support activities. To overcome this, redesigning the interior of the Medan Labuhan Police office with an Activity approach aims to create an environment that supports activities or activities that will be carried out at the Medan Labuhan Police Station that supports equality and productivity in users and visitors to improve work efficiency, comfort, and security for users. The interior design process of the Medan Labuhan Police involves various methods such as literature studies, observations, interviews, and documentation. The end result of this process is a firm and orderly interior design in accordance with the design objectives for the Medan Labuhan Police.
