

ABSTRACT

Nowadays, music is something that cannot be separated from people's daily lives. Therefore, various musical genres have emerged that are no longer foreign to the ears of Indonesian people. As music genres developed worldwide, pop punk was formed in the 70s, and this genre quickly entered Indonesia. Pop punk music has become a significant music genre in contemporary Indonesian music culture. However, there are still many fans of pop punk music who do not really understand the origins and development of pop punk music in Indonesia.

This final assignment proposes designing a media as an information medium to present the origins and development of pop punk music in Indonesia. The research method that will be used for this final assignment is a qualitative descriptive research method by collecting literature studies, observations, questionnaires and interviews. This illustrated book will combine visual illustrations and informative narratives to describe the development and contribution of pop punk music to music culture in Indonesia.

It is hoped that the design of this media can provide good understanding among music listeners, creators and the general public.
