Free sex, unwanted pregnancies, early marriage, and HIV/Aids are very serious problems and continue to increase. Society's view of sexuality education is minimal and considers it taboo, making this problem continue to occur. Condom contraception is a legal, easily available and useful tool for preventing pregnancy and the transmission of sexual diseases. However, society's stigma makes these objects seen as strange, embarrassing to buy, and taboo. The author created an installation work which indirectly represents condom contraception. It is hoped that this installation work will open up the public's insight into contraception, one of which is condoms which are easy to obtain and can prevent pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases.

Keywords: Installation Art, Free Sex, Condom Contraception, Unintended Pregnancy, HIV/Aids.
