

ABSTRACT

This Final Project is a Short Film entitled "Short Film Titled Bribery Cases in the Community", and this Final Project is set against the backdrop of rampant bribery cases in our society, especially to get a job with an insider. And in Indonesia, cases like this are common because without using bribery, it is difficult for us to get a job in the right and honest way with our own skills and abilities and are not sure we can compete with others, making bribery one of the easy ways and will definitely get the job you want. And one of the author's concerns about the rampant bribery. And this case is also a crime because we use something we want by giving a bribe. This Final Project uses several theories, namely general theories, namely: The phenomenon of difficulty getting a job, bribery cases, and criminality in bribery cases. And for the theory to make the shortfilm is the theory of art, namely: Film theory and in this film theory the author is more inclined to make this film, namely short films, cinematography theory, editing theory and color theory in films and there are some readings from the latest news and also observations of how the practice of bribery takes place to be visualized against the short film that the author made. The process of making this short film uses the pre-production method, namely preparing such as the concept of work, the purpose of the work, the medium of the work and equipment such as cameras and others. And after pre-production, namely the production method, namely synopsis, shot list and script and the production method, namely shooting the film or behind the scene and the final method, namely post-production, there editing such as posters and the film. The impact of this film is to reduce cases of bribery in the community and to be aware that using this path is not justified.
