

GLOSSARY

Terms	Description	First page used
KLHK	: The Indonesian government agency responsible for environmental affairs and forestry management, including the provision of national land cover data.	1
RTRW	: RTRW is a planning document that regulates the use of space in an area to support sustainable development. This document is used by the government to determine land allocation for various needs such as housing, industry, agriculture, and environmental conservation.	2
Bappeda	: A regional government institution tasked with formulating, coordinating, and evaluating regional development plans, including spatial planning and land use management.	2
Spectral Band	: The range of electromagnetic wavelengths captured by satellite sensors on each channel.	8