

Abstract

The face make-up and treatment for hair and face are some activities that is not so hard to do by ourself if steps and the methods is easy to be have and explored. This final project is develop by considering the needs of it. This final project gives user the guide of how to do activities so that they could feel that they're being help in some ways, in this case, activities are about the face make-up and treatment for hair and face. The method used in this final project development is through the multimedia project production approach. By targetting the adult society that is interested in things around face make-up and treatment for hair and face, this final project contains elements of multimedia to earn to draw attention and to add motivation for users. This final project is made by using various constructive multimedia development tools, such as Macromedia Flash, Adobe Photoshop, Adobe Premiere, and Sony Vegas. The contents are saved as XML files using XMLSA data bonding method.

Keywords: periasan, perawatan, multimedia, flash, video, XML.