

ABSTRACT

On the development, mobile device has dominated human live with various of facility being thrown. Conectivity was one of many factor that support mobile device to interact with other devices like computer on supporting many facility which provided by related device so easier to access from mobile device.

Various facilities and features given by computer really help human live. Entertainment facility become one of the most popular facility. For example related to that feature, it was music player like Winamp which is very familiar on computer user side. Ability of mobile device that can be connected to computer, able to help people to access features that provided by computer, thus can increase user mobility.

An application deployed on mobile device, such as handphone, able to aid accessing Winamp feature on computer via connectivity device provided by, on this case bluetooth. Some feature on Winamp can be accessed from handphone to be ran, such as Play, Pause, Stop, and other fundamental function aided by an application on computer for parsing message form mobile application.

Keywords: Application, Mobile, Symbian, Remote Control, Winamp, Bluetooth.