

Abstract

This payroll application is an application created using PHP programming language and MySQL database. To design the interface using Adobe Photoshop.

This application can handle payroll issues such as bonuses, fines, and incentives all influence the size of the salary to be received by the employee. The application also provides a database to store employee, payroll, and sales data. In addition, this application also provides reports to be used in conducting the evaluation.

The application also provides graphical reporting of the contents of employee performance based on the size of the incentives received by the employee. It is used to facilitate the review of employee performance development.

Keywords: payroll, application, reporting.