Abstract

Murni Pharmacy is a business unit engaged in drug sales. Drug inventory is a very important operational activity and should be treated seriously. Drugs is a primary needs for the consumer. Therefore, drugs should always be available to facilitate the activities of the pharmacy.

Murni Pharmacy in their business activities involve suppliers, employees and drugs. This activities result in a lot of both data and information being produce. Ease and speed in inventory management becomes very important to run the business. Authors interested in and intend to design and build Drug Inventory Management Applications at the pharmacy.

The making of this application is expected to help all employees of pharmacy in performing their duties. For example, assisting pharmacists in making sales repor purchase report, stock report and for pharmacy owners to see consolidated profit.

Results of this final project is a web-based application that could support the activities of drug inventories in Murni pharmacies. The application is built using PHP programming language and uses MySQL as database.

Keyword : Inventory, drugs, mysql, php