

Abstract

Monitoring Activity of Lecturer Information System Faculty of Informatics Institut Teknologi Telkom is an information system that is built to manage the data activities of lecturer in faculty of informatics Telkom Institute of Technology. This information system has the advantages of having a database as data storage media, data sharing over the network and display user friendly.

This information system are made to manage lecturer activities data of the faculty of informatics Institute Technology Telkom become effective information and displays that information in the form of reports and graphs. So that faculty can properly control the load and performance of each lecturer.

Kata kunci : IT Telkom, information system, lecturer, activity, load