

ABSTRACT

Characteristics of study in college is independence, both in learning activities and the selection of the program of study as well as in the management of her as a freshman. In an effort to realize he is, development is not always smooth and uneventful, lots of obstacles and problems that they face. To develop themselves and to avoid, as well as to overcome the obstacles and problems in need of guidance.

The final project entitled "Application Peer Mentor Counseling and CDC Event Management Web-Based IT Telkom" has the ability in handling peer mentor who is able to assist in controlling the problems that occur in both new students in private and public.

Final project application is made with the hope can overcome the problems that have occurred in the control system problem that often occurs in the students and in order to be used and developed as well as possible in the future.

Key Words : Mentor, Conseling, Student, CDC IT Telkom